BISEPS enables the adoption of midscale sustainable energy technologies in business clusters, reducing the CO2 emission of businesses and increasing their energy profits. A new tool will facilitate the identification and implementation of energy synergies in business clusters.